A simple, instant, and virtually zero-cost solution: A "National SOS" public emergency network that connects millions of Family Radio Service (FRS) radios and General Mobile Radio Service radios (GMRS) already in use by the public with 700,000 amateur "ham" radio operators -- people renowned and prepared for emergency communications -- plus over 70,000 licensed GMRS radio users...equally proficient at emergency communications.

The National SOS Radio Network uses channel 1, that nationally recognized universal emergency channel. Your family may also want to select its own channel for personal communications.

In an emergency, your National SOS radio may be your pipeline to help. For more information visit www.nationalsos.com
